BOTH GET OUT IS ADVICE OF THE GOVERNOR

Funniest Stunt That Has Happened in Many Months Was Pulled Off at Lansing in Presence of an Insurgent Crowd.

GOVERNOR WAS STAR PERFORMER

Roasted La Follette at Latter's Own Meeting and Advised Both Him and President Taft to Get Out of the Race.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 2.—Governor Chase Osborn took charge today of a meeting of progressive republicans gathered to hear Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, who failed to appear, and delivered an address he had prepared to introduce the speaker, thereby causing an outburst of complaint from some auditors who objected to uncomplimentary remarks of the governor in referring to La Follette. Osborn declared as between Taft and La Follette he preferred Taft, but at the same time called upon both to withdraw from the race in favor of Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, or of Roosevelt. When the governor adversely criticized some of La Follette's acts and dubbed him a politician who looked out for himself primarily, some of those in the audience yelled out that the governor had a half right to make such a speech in a hall rented and paid for by La Follette supporters. "Well, what did you expect when you asked me to preside?" inquired the governor with emphasis. "You knew where I stood. So you think I would allow you to censor my remarks? I am more sorry than you are that the senator is not here, but I am more than glad to pay for the hall in that makes any difference to you."

In was after Secretary Hanna, of the La Follette staff, called up the hall and announced that the senator would not be able to appear, that Governor Osborn took the platform alone. He explained he had prepared certain things to say, which were going to be published, and he saw no good reason for not saying them. As the governor finished, Frank Robard, state manager of the La Follette campaign, rushed excitedly up the aisle, and exclaimed: "Stay where you are, the senator will be here in a half hour."

"Good," said Osborn, "I will stay and introduce him."

The crowd returned to their seats and a band, hired by La Follette supporters, started up playing, but Robard was unable to locate La Follette and at the end of half an hour returned and announced he had not arrived, and the meeting was dismissed. Robard characterized the remarks of Osborn as "shameful," but the latter claimed the right to say what he pleased, inasmuch as the La Follette people invited him to the meeting. The governor's request that both Taft and La Follette retire in favor of Roosevelt or Beveridge was well received by the crowd.

GRAND RAPIDS, Jan. 2.—Senator La Follette tonight refused to discuss in any manner the remarks made by Governor Osborn in Lansing today.

"I discuss issues, not men," said he, "and I have no comments to make."

SENATE DOOR SWINGS OPEN FOR CUNIFF

Last Vestige of Opposition to Yavapai Man's Ambition Has Melted Away.

HE IS TO BE HEAD OF THE SENATE

Different Condition Prevails in the House, Where There Will be a Sharp Fight.

There seems no doubt that Michael G. Cuniff, of Crown King, Yavapai county, one of the democrats chosen for the senate at the late election, will be president of that body. The Republican is in receipt of information from an unofficial but reliable source that leads to the belief not only that Cuniff will be given the honor, but that there will be no opposition to his candidacy.

For the past week or two there have been many rumors that A. A. Worsley, one of the democratic-socialist members, would contest with Mr. Cuniff the honor of being president of Arizona's first state senate. But it is now said that Worsley will not make the race, preferring to do his work on the floor of the senate. Other prospective candidates, including C. D. Roberts of Cochise county, were eliminated some time ago.

In the house there will be a fight for the position of presiding officer between A. R. Lynch of Safford, Graham county, and Sam H. Bradner of Benson, Cochise county. No expression has been given by the Maricopa county delegation as to their choice for speaker.

Lynch is a lawyer and served on some of the important committees in the constitutional convention. Bradner was classed with the labor delegation in that body and this fact will perhaps add some strength to his candidacy.

These are the most important recent developments in the political situation, but there is still much discussion of the tenure of office matter. Whatever is done with respect to that question, it is likely first to come before the legislature. Indeed, it is difficult to see how that course can be avoided; and then the fun will consist in watching the members try to keep their records on straight.

Will Not Discuss Presidency and Says That His Friend, Pinchot, Was Misquoted.

"Have you taken any steps to have your name removed from the presidential ballot in Nebraska?" he was asked.

"I have taken no steps one way or another," replied Mr. Roosevelt.

"A dispatch from Washington says you have made known to President Taft through a friend, your unwillingness to say that you will under no circumstances accept a nomination next June. Is this true?"

"I haven't seen the story," replied the colonel.

"I suppose I have been neglecting my education again, but I will say this, that whenever I have an announcement to make, I will make it publicly. I will not discuss rumors. I have nothing to say on anything. The peace banquet the other night, with its strong-arm squad to preserve order, gave me a good opportunity, but I am not discussing rumors and reports."

"It is announced you are to make an important announcement at the dinner next Friday night."

"No, sir. I'm not hungry and have no engagement for next Friday night."

"Gifford Pinchot is quoted as saying you told him you would not accept a nomination, though you believed you could be elected. Is this true?"

"I haven't seen the statement, but I will water he never said it. Three times within the past few weeks he has been misquoted. I wrote him twice and found out he had not said what he was quoted as saying. So, you see, I can't discuss it."

LETTERS TELL STORY OF THE MEAT COMBINE

Important Documentary Evidence Introduced at Packers' Trial Yesterday.

VEEDER DENIES TRUST CONTRACT

The Government, However, Seems to Have Scored Extremely Strong Point.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Documentary evidence that the price of meat was fixed and the business apportioned upon a non-competitive basis by the packers at their weekly meetings was introduced by the government today at the trial of the ten indicted packers, in Judge Carpenter's federal court. Special Counsel Butler for the government read several letters received by W. D. Miles, former manager of the Armour Packing company, Kansas City, in June, 1897, in which were stated the amount of beef to be shipped to certain eastern markets, and prices to be charged, based on a margin of 50 cents on the uniform test cost estimate, used by the packers.

Miles, who severed his connection with Armour in 1903, will be, it was stated, one of the star witnesses for the government. One of the letters, dated June 19, 1897, read:

"Dear Sir—This afternoon it was agreed that each party will not ship during the current week in excess of quantity agreed upon for last week. Boston—At this point it is agreed each party in interest shall not ship during the current week in excess of his proportion of the total shipment of 100 cars, basing such proportion on the average weekly shipments to Boston for eight weeks ending June 15, 1897. It is also agreed the parties in interest will endeavor to obtain for the current week margins of 50 cents. Pittsburgh—It is agreed by each party in interest not to ship in excess of 30 per cent of the average weekly shipment for the four weeks ending June 12, 1897."

Several other letters were read, and it was pointed out that they were not signed, but were written in the form on which Henry Veeder testified at the packers' letters were written. Veeder had previously testified the packers held no meetings between April, 1897, and January, 1898. After the government questioned Veeder today, it sprung a surprise on the defense by reading the letters to show a pool was maintained during those two years as before.

"Does the reading of those letters refresh your memory any?" he was asked.

"No, it does not. It simply indicates if there was an agreement. I do not, however, question the genuineness of the letters," he replied.

Veeder was on the stand at adjournment.

SEVERAL MORE.

Secretary Nagel declares that the Sherman law has been proved to be an effective statute beyond all doubt and that a degree of combination of capital is quite necessary, but he adds that the Supreme Court decisions in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases have demonstrated that the next step in the control of great industrial corporations will be the creation of a permanent federal agency.

How such control shall be exercised, whether by commission, federal incorporation or other means, which have been advocated recently by Judge Elbert H. Gary, George W. Perkins and other financiers before the senate committee which has been conducting hearings to determine what changes would be desirable in the anti-trust laws, Secretary Nagel does not definitely say.

He favors, however, a development of the powers and scope of the bureau of corporation.

"A certain degree of combination of capital is admittedly essential to the carrying on of our great business enterprises," says Secretary Nagel. "To control properly such necessary combinations we must have some administrative federal office or commission which shall make this work its business."

"We must have a permanent authority which shall by steady and continuous supervision and publicity safeguard the public interests and at the same time allow full scope for necessary and proper business efficiency and development."

"The decisions of the supreme court in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco cases have brought forcibly to the public attention a fact repeatedly presented in the reports of this department—the imperative need for the positive administrative regulation of great industrial corporations."

"The recent decisions and re-organizations which followed have made it clear that another imperative step remains to be taken and that this is the establishment, by appropriate legislation, of a broad system of supervision and publicity for all those industrial and commercial organizations engaged in interstate and international business."

"Whether this shall be done by means of federal incorporation or by a federal office or commission exercising powers or regulation and supervision may be a secondary question. The first consideration appears to be the establishment of permanent administrative publicity, regulation and supervision. The time is peculiarly ripe for such action. Public opinion and the views of many corporation managers are as one."

Secretary Nagel recommends that the bureau of corporations be developed to take up the form of supervision he suggests. It would be but a logical expansion of the bureau's operations and policy, which he says, have relied solely on publicity for the last eight years and have demonstrated beyond question what a system of permanent supervision can do.

Mr. Nagel's report in full deals with the year's work in the many bureaus and divisions over which he presides.

In connection with the immigration service the secretary recommends that any amendments to the immigration laws tend to relieve immigrants of undue hardship without letting down the bars against undesirable. Larger discretion should be lodged with officials, he thinks, to admit unfortunate members of incoming families where it is shown that society would be protected against burden and danger. He recommends also that examinations of immigrants be made before they embark for this country and that the time for departing confessed criminals be extended.

Secretary Nagel refers in passing to recent criticism of the immigration service. He says the bureau has en-

Member of Cabinet Agrees with President That a Federal Board Is Required.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The mere breaking up of large combinations into a number of separate parts by no means meets the whole trust question," says Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor in his annual report, transmitted today to President Taft.

Secretary Nagel declares that the Sherman law has been proved to be an effective statute beyond all doubt and that a degree of combination of capital is quite necessary, but he adds that the Supreme Court decisions in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases have demonstrated that the next step in the control of great industrial corporations will be the creation of a permanent federal agency.
